1.1. Introduction

1.2. RFP Purpose

The goal of this solicitation is to prepare a Strategic Master Plan for the coming 20-year period (2011 to 2030). The plan should be based on a study that covers the entire Petra Region, focusing on the main urban areas, and the key natural landscape and environmental areas associated with the UNESCO World Heritage Site and archaeological park. The Petra Archeological Park must be looked at from a strategic point of view, as Park Management Plans have already been developed. The Strategic Master Plan should also address urban efficiency, economic and social development including all six local communities, mobilization of private sector investment and participation, balanced with the protection of the archaeological park itself.

3. Section III: Project Background, Scope and Main Components

3.1. Background

Petra region is located to the southern part of Jordan around 230 km from Amman. The region covers an area of (755 km²) of which (264 km²) is dedicated to the Petra Archaeological Park (PAP). It also includes six urban communities with a population of around 28 thousand persons. The iconic rose red city of Petra, a UNESCO World Heritage Site since 1985, a world wonder since 2007, is without doubt Jordan's most valuable treasure and greatest tourist attraction. Petra was once the capital city of an empire that extended into Syria established by the Nabataeans; a nomadic and industrious Arab people who settled in southern Jordan over 2500 years ago. Petra was an important junction for the silk, spice and other trade routes that linked China, India and southern Arabia with Egypt, Syria, Greece and Rome. It prospered in the first centuries BC and AD.

In September 2009, Law Number 15 for the year 2009 was enacted to define the Petra Development and Tourism Region and the inauguration of Petra Development and Tourism Region Authority that would take responsibility for the development of the Petra Region economically capitalizing on its potentials in tourism, among other areas such as local community development (see summary box).

In part, this new law was also enacted to achieve positive economic and social gain for the entire Petra region, and for Jordan as a whole. With the creation of the PDTRA, the national significance of this region to Jordan was explicitly declared.

The mandate of the Petra Development and Tourism Region Authority (PDTRA) focuses on several areas, including zoning and land use; developing tourism for the benefit of locals and Jordanians at large, stimulating investment; protecting the archaeological site; improving socio-economic conditions of local communities, identifying sectors that are potential for investment; and sustainable development across the Petra Region.

In this context, PDTRA seeks to prepare a Strategic Master Plan to determine appropriate development zones and land uses; develop sustainable tourism that provides and an authentic experience to visitors and long term benefit to local communities and Jordanians at large; protect the archaeological park; stimulate domestic and foreign investment in the region; improve socio-economic conditions of local communities; as well as identify potential untapped or under-utilized investment opportunities that can contribute to Jordan's economic growth.

The envisaged Strategic Master plan is to be developed under the auspices of the PDTRA. Components (as noted in this TOR) should include infrastructure, resource conservation, administration, regional interdependencies, sustainable development, new facilities, etc. Given that the mandate is also concerned with the social conditions of all six communities, a related socio-economic assessment of sources of employment and economic activity of the six communities should also be undertaken.

Summary Responsibilities of the Petra Development and Tourism Region Authority Commissioners' Council

- Controlling and regulating all land use
- Presenting local Arab cultural heritage to national benefit
- Improving tourism, and its economic potential, through national and international collaborative ventures
- Stimulating the investment environment and optimizing use of resource to enhance competitiveness
- In partnership with the Department of Antiquities, developing strategies and controls for maintaining, protecting and conserving the archaeological and other cultural heritage resources
- Documenting, improving and preserving items of cultural significance, and identifying areas with tourism potential
- Improving the socio-economic conditions of the local community and initiating cultural, folklore and tourism service projects that benefit them
- Protecting the biodiversity of the natural environment and its resources in coordination with authorities and the regulations of the Environment Protection Law
- Develop local capacity building programs for identified areas of needs in the zone.

3.2. The Regional Strategic Planning Context

For the Petra Authority to capitalize on the potential of the Petra region and its resources, the current status quo must be determined, covering the main areas of development including economic, demographic, public services, fiscal and social. The main focus should include a strategic macro level master plan for the region, macro-zoning for the region, and reassessing the current 'Buffer Zone' comprised of zones A, B and C.

3.2.1. Information Available

The following key regional studies and documents are available:

- Petra Priority Action Plan Study, Dar al Handasah, 1996
- Petra Region Land Use Code, Sigma, 1998
- Jordan Second Tourism Project, Staff Appraisal Document, World Bank, July 1997
- Jordan Second Tourism Project, Implementation Completion Report, World Bank, December 2005
- Petra Archaeological Park Management Plans

3.3. The Petra Archaeological Park

Petra Archaeological Park (PAP) is a site of outstanding universal value and considerable archaeological, anthropological and scientific knowledge still to be discovered. Given its tremendous historic, cultural and aesthetic values, it was inscribed on the UNESCO list of World Heritage Sites in 1985. PAP is the best-known and most-visited attraction in the Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan. This is critical in consideration that tourism is a key driver of Jordan's economy, being currently it is the single largest employer and the highest generator of foreign exchange. An unprecedented growth in visitation has been experienced since a 2007 worldwide vote included Petra Archaeological Park on the list of the 'New Seven (cultural) Wonders of the World'.

PAP encompasses a landscape of pink-hued rock mountains, the focus of which is the ancient Nabataean city of Petra, which was carved into the rock more than 2,000 years ago. The universal significance of Petra is demonstrated in its striking architectural and archaeological remains.

A Proclamation in 2005 declared "the Cultural Space of the Bedu in Petra and Wadi Rum" to be a "masterpiece of the oral and intangible heritage of humanity".

3.3.1. Information Available

The following key studies and documents are available:

- Petra Archaeological Park Management Plan, UNESCO, 1994
- Management Analysis & Recommendations for the Petra World Heritage Site, US/ICOMOS, 1996
- Petra Archaeological Park Operating Plan (3 Vol), The US National Parks Service, 2000.

3.4. Objectives and Expected Results

3.4.1. Objective

The key objective of this assignment is to provide the PDTRA with a Strategic Master Plan that guides planned development of the Petra region in an efficient, balanced and sustainable way over the next 20 years for the benefit of Jordanians. Special consideration is required for the protection of the globally significant Petra Archaeological Park, which lies wholly within the area, as well as integrating the planning and zoning regulations for Zones A, B and C, known as the 'Buffer Zone'.

3.4.2. Expected Results

The expected results of the plan to be delivered will articulate a vision for the region’s development and enable more efficient, effective, sustainable and socially responsible plans and policies arising for:

- Enhancing and developing the tourism product and services outside the Petra Archaeological Park, while protecting the cultural site as the “Jewel in the Crown” and including those parts of the immediate environs which can be considered an integral part of the tourism experience.
- Promoting economic and social development of the individual communities and the region as a whole. This includes the critical need to mobilize private sector initiatives and investment in the development effort with a focus on involving the local community, as well as attracting responsible foreign investments that protect the authenticity of the tourist experience, capitalize on the rich cultural heritage of the area, and preserve the environment.
- Guiding land development and land use for the whole region, with special focus on the current ‘Buffer Zone’, comprised of zones A, B and C.
- Developing the needed support infrastructure and services based on current capacities identified and anticipated demand for the region and planned developments and investments. This includes enabling the transfer of planning knowledge to PDTRA’s staff, thereby building the government agency’s capacity.

In order to achieve the expected results of implementing the developed Master plan a fully fledged detailed action/implementation plan for the first phase (3 years), needs to be developed and submitted.

3.5. Statement of Work

The assignment is to prepare a Strategic Master Plan for the coming 20-year period (2011 to 2030). The plan should be based on a study that covers the entire Petra Region, focusing on the main urban areas, and the key natural landscape and environmental areas associated with the UNESCO World Heritage Site and archaeological park. The Petra Archeological Park must be looked at from conceptual point of view, as Park Management Plans have already been developed, please note the studies previously undertaken for the PAP in the background section. The Strategic Master Plan should also address urban efficiency, economic and social development including all six local communities, mobilization of private sector investment and participation, balanced with the protection of the archaeological park itself.

3.5.1. Task Summary

The following seven key tasks are required of the consultants:

Task	Target Completion (week # from start)
1 Initial diagnostic	7
2 Public consultations/Stakeholder workshop: diagnostic	8
3 Detailed analysis, scenarios and strategy development	19
4 Public consultations/Stakeholder workshop: scenarios and strategy	20
